Dear Dr. Crumb:

I had the great pleasure of interviewing you last December as part of the 2014 season of Earplay: New Music Ensemble. We performed one of your works along with those of other composers at each of our three concerts earlier this year. My interview with you was published on our website, earplay.org, and I highlighted your work during two lectures I gave on contemporary classical music at the San Francisco Museum of Performance and Design. We are grateful for the gifts your creativity has provided.

You asked that I collect two copies of the programs we used for the concerts and mail them to you. So, please find six programs, two from each concert, enclosed in this mailing. I am also enclosing a sound copy of the edited interview on a CD in .mp3 format. It was recorded on December 10, 2013, and it lasts 31:45 minutes.

I see that our San Francisco colleagues at SF Contemporary Music Players will be performing several of your works during their upcoming season. I look forward to hearing them. I hope you are well, and thanks again.

Sincerely,

R. Wood Massi
